Mayor pro tem outlines link to major cities

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear recently attended the League of Cities convention in Houston, Texas, where he found four major problems affecting many cities in the nation.

"We talked about the environment and the shortage of landfills," Gear said. "We talked about what to do with toxic waste. We discussed the aging problem and what to do with it. The society is getting older, and we don't know what to do about it."

City representatives also discussed the need for more affordable housing and how to curtail drugs in the community.

Although the problems appeared vast, Gear said the convention was beneficial because colleagues from around the country offered advice and possible solutions.

In Romulus, the city is faced with a handful of problems that can be solved, according to Gear. The problems include a need for more single- and multiple-family dwellings and a need for more soup kitchens for the homeless.

"People need a place to live that is close to work," Gear said. "With gas going up, it's too expensive for people to drive."

The strong points for Romulus include a solid senior citizen program and a newly developed recycling program, which is taking off with great speed.

Gear said even though there is a drug problem in Romulus, the police have done a terrific job to stabilize the situation. "We'll just have to crack down more," Gear said.

Gear believes the federal government should set aside more allocations to help seniors. Allocations, however, should be split equally to help seniors and youth programs, he said.

Gear is also in favor of having district teachers stress the importance of saving the environment.

The future of Romulus could be a bright one if city officials work hard to attract new developers to the area, he said.

"We would like to be a convention center one day," Gear said. "We're now seeking to build a convention center on Wick Road next to the airport."

Gear said if the city can build a convention center, the development would spark construction of a hotel and a shopping area north of the airport and promote Romulus in the long run.

"We don't want to overbuild though," Gear said. "We can't forget to take care of the families here."

Gear attended the annual convention Dec. 3.

Parents support schools

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

It's not surprising Romulus residents decided in 1990 to take on one of the highest tax brackets of any community to make a better school system.

Romulus parents have been supporting the schools for a number of years. About 26 years ago, Romulus School Board officials asked residents to approve a $4 million expansion project for the district, which was met with hearty approval.

School officials in 1964 were asking for a swimming pool, two new elementary schools, expansion of the high school and renovation to the junior high.

About 100 residents seated in the Romulus Senior High auditorium listened to school officials explain the need for two elementary schools, one to serve the Cory area and one to serve the southwest area in 1964.

School board officials stated the elementary schools would, initially, house 350 to 400 students with the provision of adding four to six classrooms later. These schools would include an administration office, multi-purpose rooms and clinics. The cost for the project would be $900,000.

Expansion of the high school would include 28 teaching stations such as: four shops, two homemaking rooms, three commercial, two biology, one band, one vocal, one arts and crafts, two game and activity or one gymnasium or one swimming pool and 12 classrooms. The cost for the expansion would be more than $1.7 million.

The renovation of the junior high included two homemaking rooms, two music rooms, five science rooms, three shop rooms, three physical education rooms, two art rooms and 18 general classrooms.

The total for the two elementary schools, senior high expansion, junior high renovation, site purchase and auditorium came to more than $3.6 million.

School board officials were hoping to complete the project by fall 1964.

On Nov. 26, 1990, Romulus residents approved two of three ballot proposals. Proposition one, the renewal of 37 mills; and proposition two, asking for $45 million to improve the schools, both passed.

The first proposition was geared for 10 additional years of general operating funds to pay the daily cost of operating the school district. The costs include, but are not limited to, salaries, teaching supplies, lights, heat, repairs and buses.

Under proposition two, school officials were asking for more than $45 million.

Police officers awarded plaque

Romulus police officers received an award of excellence for 10 years of dedicated service from the Co-Op Service Credit Union Dec. 19.

Jim Jefferies, vice president of marketing for COSCU, presented Chief Fred Dansby and fellow officers with a plaque signifying the gratitude of the business.

"This award was one of two given this year," Jefferies said. "This plaque is for the continued service of the Romulus Police Department over the last 10 years. It's also for the quick action of the police handling the Feb. 8 capture of people perpetrating a robbery of the Romulus Co-Op branch."

This is the first time the Romulus Police Department has received this award.

Besides demonstrating quick action on the job, Romulus police also helped educate residents on the process of handling emergencies.

A handful of residents recently have been asking police why officers ask so many questions when a caller dials 911 before sending a police car or other emergency assistance.

"It's important for the caller to know that when we receive an emergency call, the dispatcher must ascertain the nature of the emergency, any description of the subjects involved and any injuries or illness," one police officer said.

Romulus police said in most cases, when the officer is asking the questions on a 911 call, a car is being dispatched.

"Information gained immediately from the 911 caller aids in the quick apprehension of a perpetrator and assures that the proper emergency assistance is on the way," the officer said. "Please attempt to remain calm when calling 911 and follow our dispatchers' directions as they are trained to get you the assistance you need in the best way possible."

Wayne resident dies in Romulus car crash

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Funeral services were staged for a 15-year-old Wayne resident Dec. 27 at the Uht Funeral Home in Westland.

The resident, Brian Doyen, died Dec. 23 while he was a passenger during a car crash on Van Born west of Middle Belt in Romulus.

The driver of the vehicle, a 17-year-old male Wayne resident, is in serious condition at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

"He was a good boy," said

Kenneth Doyen, Brian's father. "He liked basketball and had a lot of friends."

Doyen was a responsible youth, according to his parents. He served as an explorer for Inkster when he was 13.

Doyen is survived by his mother, Debra; father, Kenneth; sisters, Beth Ann, 12, and Lisa Marie, 10; brother, John Michael, 7; and grandparents, John and Rose Marie Moon, Thomas and Betty Doyen and Glenis Sorrell.

The crash is still under investigation. A possible charge of negligent homicide has been considered, according to Romulus police Sgt. Joseph Wedesky.

Trains have great appeal, regardless of age

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

They last forever if they're properly maintained.

— Bob Reckinger store owner

As a child, Bob Reckinger of Canton Township loved playing with toy trains.

He still does, but today he's paid for it. Well, sort of.

Reckinger and his wife, Bonnie, own Plymouth Yard Hobbies, 904 Starkweather, a store for toy train enthusiasts.

During the holidays, his store buzzes with excitement. A train runs underneath a Christmas tree among the many decorations.

Although Reckinger doesn't know when the tradition started, he knows Lionel Trains Inc., the renowned toy train manufacturer, started producing trains in 1900.

Before 1900, the English produced toy trains, Reckinger said. Some were push-toys made of cast iron.

Train collecting in the U.S. skyrocketed in popularity during the 1930s and 1940s before reaching its peak in the early 1950s.

After the '50s, slot-car racing was the rage until trains regained their lost popularity in the late 1970s.

Lionel trains, according to Reckinger, have steamed up the charts in sales — reaching an all-time high in 1988.

Since he was a youngster, he has charted his interest in trains.

"My first Christmas with Lionel trains was when I was nine," Reckinger said. "When I turned on the light, before going downstairs, the switch triggered trains (to move)."

Later, in high school, he set up large elaborate tracks on a couple of pingpong tables.

Reckinger, however, temporarily lost interest in trains as youth gave way to adulthood or as he put it, discovering women.

But he soon was back on track.

His pride and joy is a standard-gauge Lionel train set which was made in 1907, which still runs smoothly.

Although Lionel stopped producing the standard-gauge series in the 1930s, they have recently started producing them again as the "Lionel Classics."

This year, the hottest classic replica is the 700 E. Hudson.

As Reckinger talks about train enthusiasts, one quickly realizes that it's a world unto itself.

For example, the collector series differs from the traditional series, while collectors are not necessarily operators.

The Lionel traditional series is generally for beginners and children, ranging from $80 to $350. The collector series is for serious collectors.

Operators run their trains, and are not overly concerned with the resale value of the trains.

Collectors, on the other hand, usually keep their trains in a glass display case, he said, while other collectors keep their trains in their original, sealed boxes.

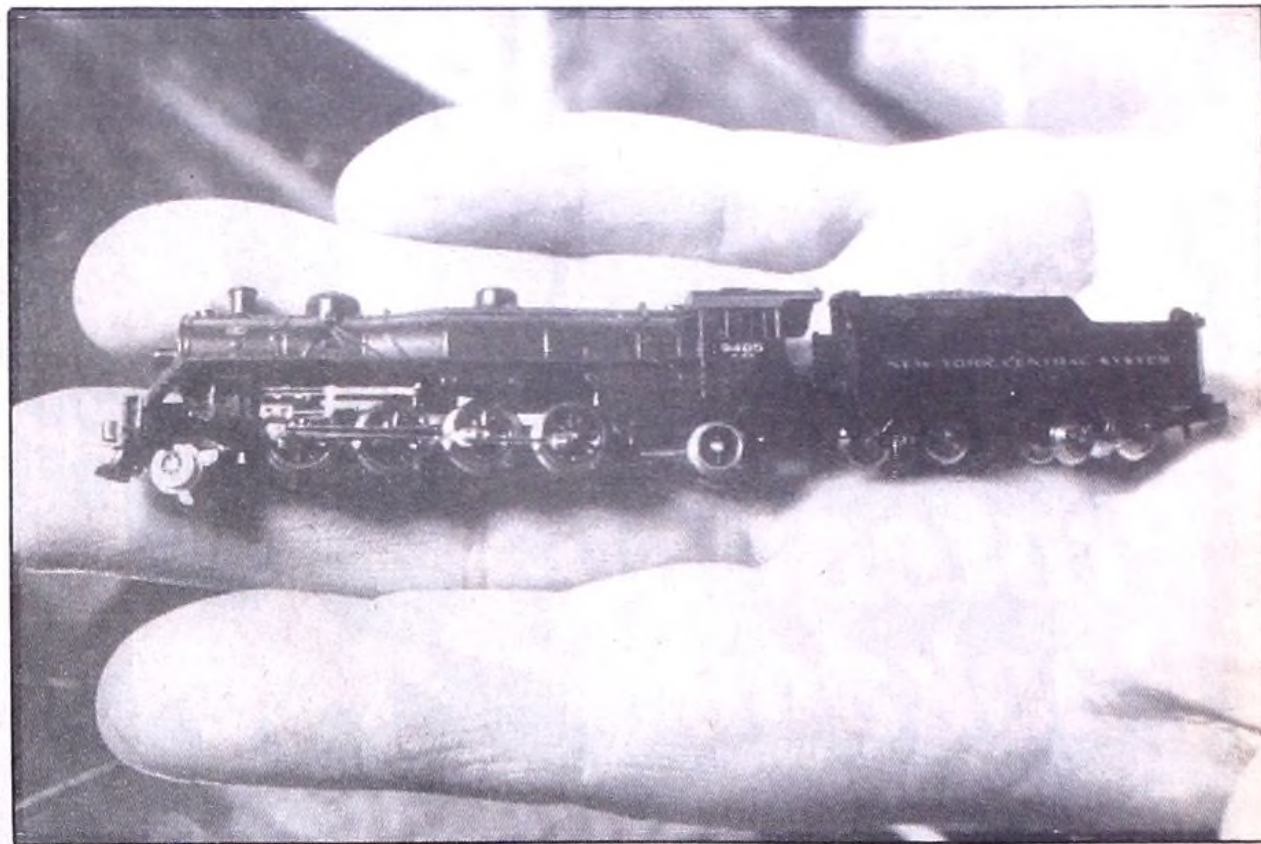

The most popular trains are steam as opposed to diesel engines, said Reckinger.

People enjoy the die-cast metal steam trains, which whistle, blow smoke, make chugging sounds and have an operating headlight.

You can even watch the side rods on the engine move, he added.

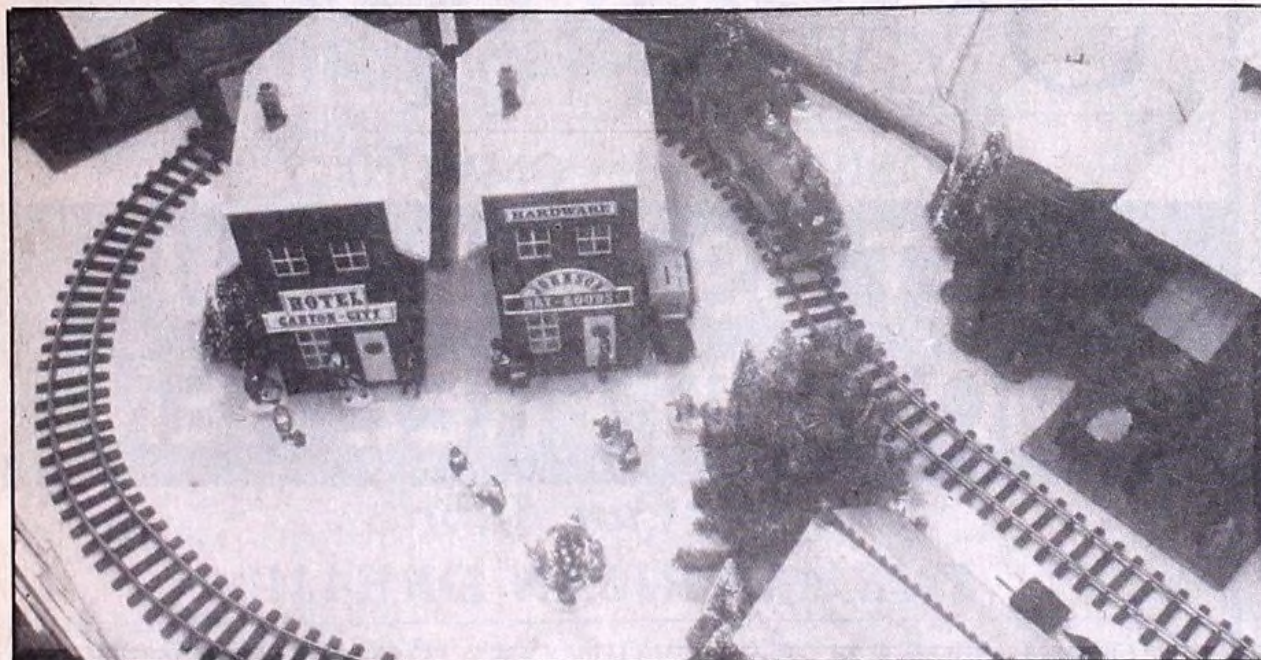

For operators, Reckinger gives the following tips to keep their trains in condition: lubricate bearing points, motor shifts, and gears; and clean wheels on the cars.

"They last forever if they're properly maintained."

Trains have gone from a boyhood fascination to an expensive and extensive hobby for Canton Township resident Bob Reckinger, owner of Plymouth Yard Hobbies. Trains are displayed in cases throughout the store and larger models are set up as part of villages.

Local psychic recommends caution for 1990

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

With the Jan. 15 United Nations deadline for war approaching in the Persian Gulf, local psychic Elizabeth is sending a message of caution to Wayne County residents for 1991.

"Be a bit cautious with finance in the first six months," Elizabeth said. "Major changes will take place in Detroit which will affect the suburbs, but the major changes will be for the better."

Elizabeth made a list of predictions for 1991, focusing on foreign politics, the economy, local government, business and money.

Elizabeth is predicting there will be a war in the Persian Gulf in 1991, but it won't be a long fight.

"The United States involvement will be no longer than eight to 10 months," Elizabeth said. "The effects of the war

Coleman Young will be out of office by end of 1991. There will be major problems around the automotive industry more so than there are now.

— Elizabeth
Local psychic

will go on for awhile. I think the U.S. will be prepared to start a war by mid-April."

Within the next four years, Elizabeth predicts the United States will become more involved with helping the Soviet Union. The United States will also form stronger relations with the Soviets and will help to change the economy, according to Elizabeth.

"Controversial issues that will come into play even stronger in 1991 are war, abortion and taxes," Elizabeth said. "Moral and ethical issues will be more focused on."

President George Bush will travel plenty in 1991. Elizabeth said there will be a lot of concentration on what Bush has to say in the next few months.

"Protests will come into focus, but they won't be as strong as in the 1960s," Elizabeth said.

It will be a tough two years for school millages, according to Elizabeth. Some problems may arise with organizations involving children, including pre-school groups.

"There may be some problems in 1991 with children's organizations," Elizabeth said. "There will be more scandals with pre-schools."

As Gov.-elect John Engler takes office, Elizabeth predicts Detroit will be hit hard during the next few years.

"Coleman Young will be out of office by the end of 1991," Elizabeth said. "There will be major problems around the automotive industry more so than there are now."

Businesses won't suffer as much as in the past two years. Elizabeth said businesses that will probably struggle are airlines, automotive and electronics.

In terms of money, Elizabeth predicts by the end of 1991, people will be coming out of debt and banks will be more secure, but that doesn't mean buying a surge in the housing market, at least not right away.

"People won't feel secure about the housing market until 1992," Elizabeth said.

Marriages will be plentiful in 1991, but divorces will also increase. Elizabeth said gold will be a good investment after March.

"This is not going to be a negative year," Elizabeth said. "There will just be some major news stories right after the new year, especially because everything has been so suppressed."

More emphasis will be placed on teen-age problems in 1991, which include development of government programs for teens around March of next year.

Soldier spends holidays with family, returns to Gulf

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne resident John McBain received the best Christmas gift he could have asked for this year.

McBain, 20, is a petty officer in charge of electronics on the U.S.S. Independence stationed in the Gulf of Oman, south of the Persian Gulf.

On Dec. 21, McBain along with 2,500 other naval officers from the U.S.S. Independence, were allowed to go home for two weeks to celebrate the holiday season. About 5,000 officers are assigned to the U.S.S. Independence.

"It's great to be back home," McBain said. "We pulled back to our base in San Diego and half of us were allowed to go home."

McBain's ship was the first to reach the Gulf of Oman when Saddam Hussein took over Kuwait Aug. 2. He said the situation is tense right now.

"We're constantly training," McBain said. "We practice drills four hours a day and wear gas masks."

Some of the drills include fighting fires in case the ship gets attacked, preparing for personal emergencies and working with the individual battle groups as if in a combat situation. McBain believes a war is evident.

"I don't think the Jan. 15 deadline will be met, but sometime after that there will probably be a war," McBain said.

When McBain's ship was first called to the Gulf of Oman, he said he really didn't know what to think.

"It was pretty scary at first," McBain said. "As the days went on, it was pretty routine."

Even though McBain has a few days off for the holidays, he is still on call. Once the ship gets ready to pull out of San Diego, McBain said it will take about 30 days to reach the Gulf of Oman.

"When I graduated from High School, I wanted money to go to college so I got the G.I. bill," McBain said. "I left right after high school."

Let's all work from the same set of rules

There is nothing quite as confusing as a city charter. The Westland city charter, in particular an item regarding the requirements of individuals who are elected or appointed to city offices, may be interpreted in many different ways.

The same article given to three different people was read three different ways and thought to mean three different things.

In a previous editorial we supported Mayor Robert Thomas' position on selecting only residents of the city to serve on city boards and commissions.

Perhaps we spoke too soon, and then again maybe we did not.

In most cases, we do agree that members of boards and commissions, as well as city directors, should live within city boundaries.

In Westland it would be a rarity to find a city director, who is in a position to make policy for the city, residing within these limits.

Police and firefighters unions fought residency requirements several years ago and succeeded. They can not be required to live within the city that they work.

Members of the zoning board of appeals, the planning commission and the historical commission should reside within the city as those are the restrictions set by charter — as it is most commonly interpreted.

It was only after the issue died down a bit that we realized at whom Mayor Thomas' barbs were directed. His arguments for requiring all appointees to boards and commissions to be residents was pointed directly at the Westland Economic Development Advisory Commission.

Few members of this advisory board are residents, but they do have business interests in Westland.

Last week, members of this commission received letters from the mayor asking for their resignations. They refused.

After further inquiries we learned that the EDAC is not governed by the city charter.

They make no policy, set no rules or even develop city-funded programs.

The advisory commission was established as part of a state program and is governed by state statute. When enacted, communities were free to participate in the program which also included several other initiatives. Westland leaders than chose to participate.

This is all according to the attorney representing the city.

The mayor's attempt, therefore, to remove these individuals from their posts should be squashed.

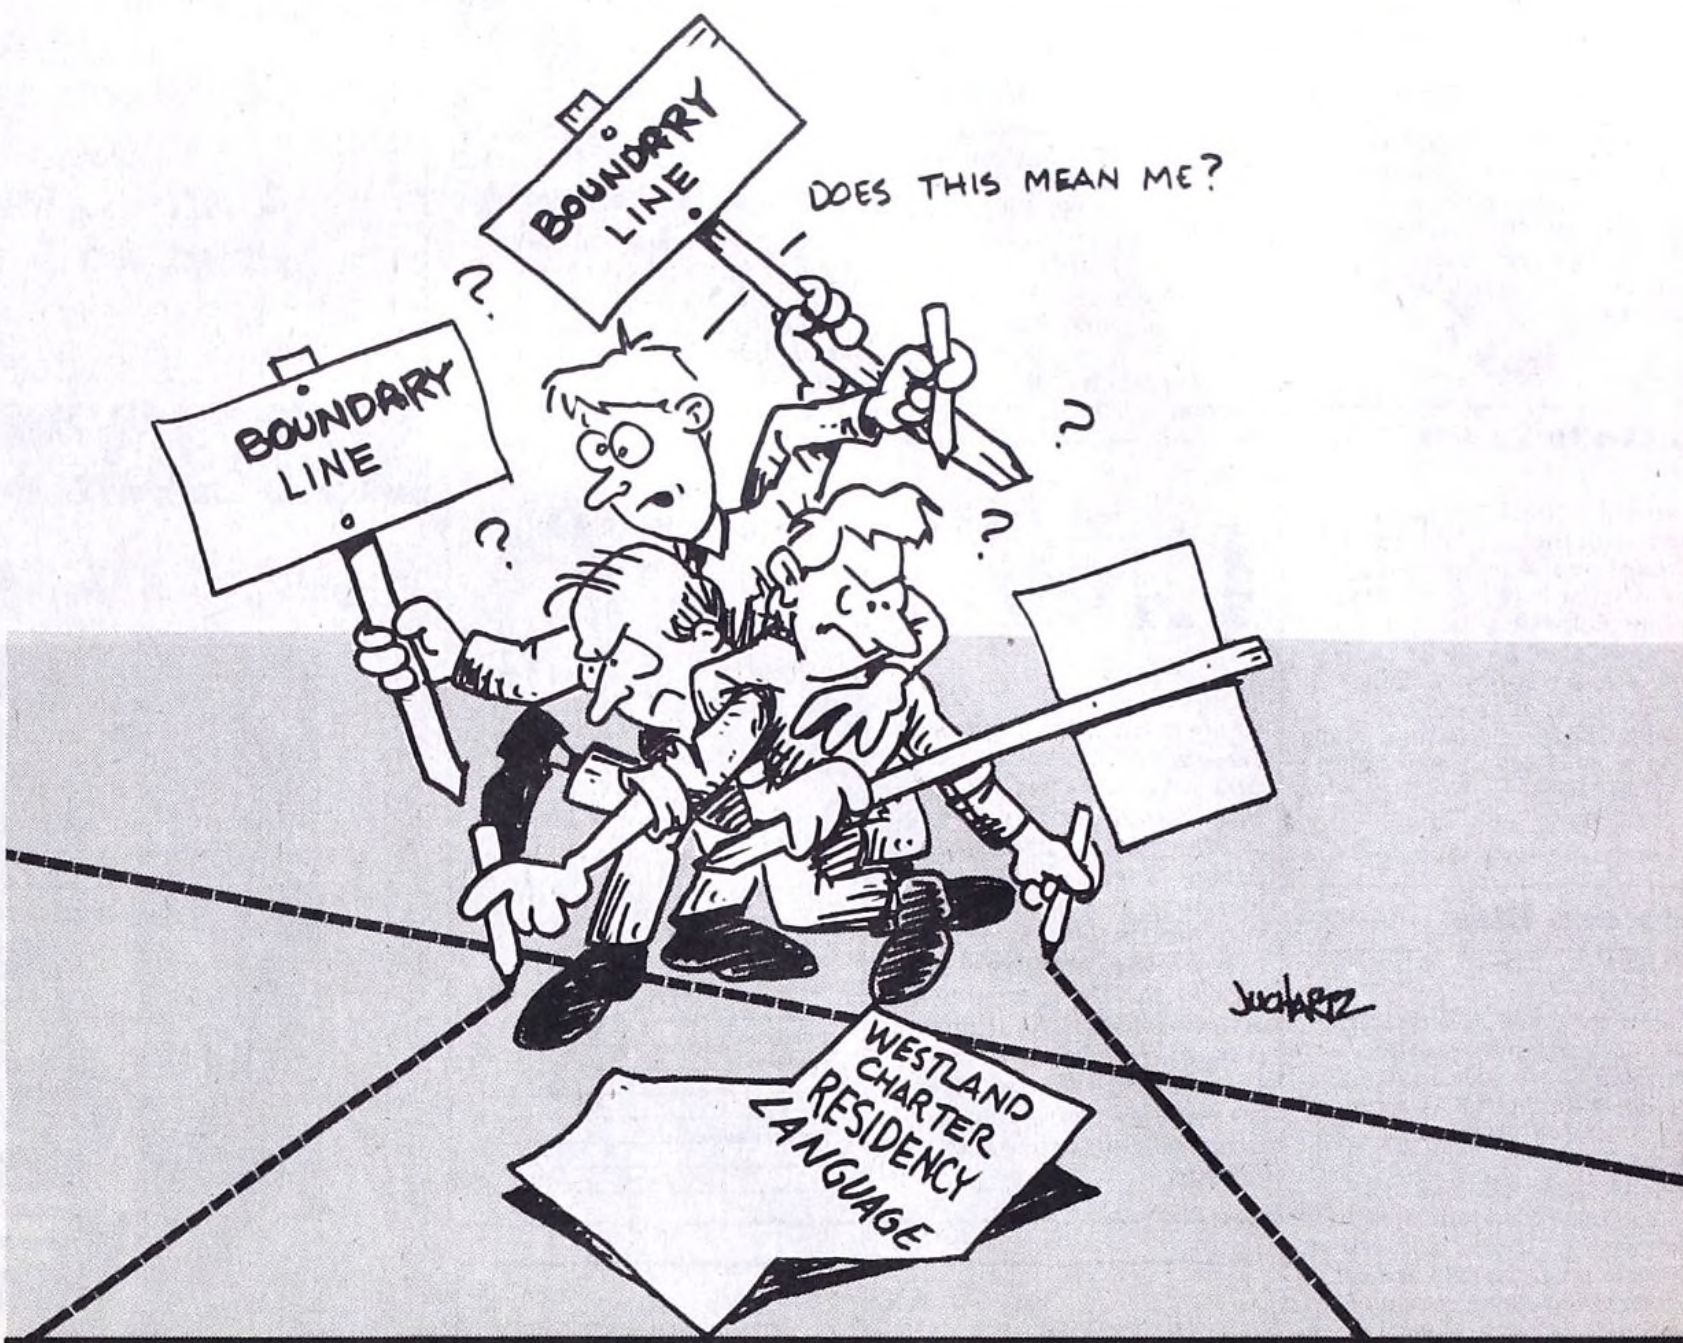

These individuals each have a right to sit on the commission and participate in its functions. They have great interest in the economic development of Westland and have a past record of serving the community well.

They spoke out against development of a county jail at the Eloise property, they have participated and lent argument to the debate to limit noise from the airport and have taken action to determine what businesses like and dislike about the city of Westland.

We would continue to support the effort of the mayor to see that all those individuals appointed to director's positions or commission posts are resident of the city, but not in regard to this particular group.

The wrong commission has been targeted for this particular message, and we believe the requests for resignations be withdrawn.

Also, we believe that everyone should start playing from the same rule book, lest we all become overwrought and terribly confused about the "rights and wrongs" in the city.

Ernie is the first sign of spring with the Red Sox versus the Tigers for the Polk County Championship. And an 8-year-old schoolboy staying up until 3 a.m. with the transistor radio under his pillow listening to an extra-inning game from the "Big A."

A bald, fat old man jumping up and disrupting his granddaughter's dance recital and yelling "Willie Horton just hit a three-run homer". That's Ernie. So is the husband with the Sony Walkman tuned to WJR in the Sinai Hospital delivery room while helping his wife with her breathing during the birth of their first child.

There's a fan in Alpena who remembers with sadness Dick McAuliffe hitting into his only double play of the year to end the final game in 1967. And so it the 16-year-old cruising Telegraph in his 1969 Ford Falcon with the Tiger game blaring.

A skinny batboy for the Atlanta Crackers, a correspondent for the Sporting News at age 15, a reporter for the Atlanta Constitution, an announcer traded for a catcher, the television voice of the shot heard around the world, a song writer for Mitch Ryder. He makes donations to the Detroit Public Library, he pioneered locker room chapel and uncharacteristically got into a fist fight with Leo the Lip. That's Ernie.

An early morning walking partner for a white-haired manager, a talent scout for Jose Feliciano an Author of Tuned to Baseball, and a Hall of Fame beloved legend. That's Ernie.

Nicknames are Ernie. Names like "Hondo" and "Peaches" and "Stormin Norman" and "Trixie" and "Paw Paw" and "Gibby" and "Tram" and "Sudsy".

Briggs Stadium became Tiger Stadium, which became "the old ball yard at the corner of Michigan and Trumbull" that begat simply "the Corner."

Ernie is the college freshman leaving home for the first time to get a degree in communications because he wants to be the next voice of the Tigers.

And then there are all those "Ernieisms."

"The crafty, lefthander toes the slab, kicks and deals, the Lolich fastball leaves him standing there like the house by the side of the road."

It's never a California or Baltimore rally, but "the Angels are kicking up their heels" or "the Orioles are flapping their wings." The foul ball out of play becomes "a nice play by an upper-deck outfielder" or "a souvenir for the young man from Melvindale."

At 8:34 — "we are overdue for station break and its a strike because Nester Chylak said so." His pre-game guests can always look forward to a pair of Florsheim shoes from Sibleys. Michigan's largest Florsheim dealer.

From pre-game to post-game he lets us know if the wind is blowing in from left, if the outfield is pulled round to right, if the infielders are in double-play depth and tells us when "they get two for the price of one." That's Ernie.

If he earned royalties for every time J.P. replayed a blast that was "long gone" or if he were given a dollar for every heart that was broken on Dec. 19, he'd be a multi-millionaire.

"Tiger birthday greetings go out to the 90-year-old great-grandmother from Benton Harbor who's been a loyal Tiger fan for 80 years" and "Tiger get-well wishes to the 8-year-old getting her tonsils out at Harper Hospital." That's Ernie.

Whether it's the heat of the pennant drive or they are playing out the stretch in September, the bespectacled man in the overcoat and beret will let us know when the "fans are starting up the rhythmic applause because the Tigers need some instant runs."

We listened to him on the beach in Traverse City, camping out in the U.P., with the sound turned down on the television broadcast, and traveling to Florida on Interstate-75 for spring break.

From the cold night game in April to the hot Sunday afternoon game in August we listen to him. When the Tigers are trying to break a 19-game losing streak or when the Bengals are off to a 35-5 start, we listen.

He was our eyes when Dennis Dale McLain won 31 despite serving up a fat one to the Mick, when Coco Guitierrez went seven for seven, when Tom Brookens started a triple-play against the "Pale Hose" and for Gibby's blast off the Goose in '84 or during a 13-5 drubbing at the hands of the lowly Cleveland Indians.

When he told us the game was rained out, everyone left the Stadium. Ernie was embarrassed. Paul Carey called him back and Jim Campbell honored the rainchecks. That's Ernie.

He'd promote for the ball club, always letting us know there were "plenty of good seats available for the red-hot Texas Rangers coming in for a four-game weekend series."

Winters always seemed a little warmer when he was "hot-stoving" it with Beckman on the Sports Wrap.

A Jason Thompson rooftop blast would send "a case of Superior Potato Chips to the Boys Club" and a Lou Whitaker grand slam was "another Armour Star home run."

For 31 years when the Tigers were on the road a lot of people enjoyed his "hellos" back to Detroit from transplanted son or daughter and the players' wives and Joe DiRooff always wanted to know what time the Tiger's charter would get back in to Willow Run. Ernie obliged.

We always knew when it was time to tune in on Paul Carey, or Ray Lane, or George Kell.

His slight southern drawl told us "the fans are streaming on the field and let's listen to the bedlam" the year after the riots. He never had to tell us "Hi, again, everybody; my name is Ernie Harwell," but he did.

A Mayo Smith Society after-dinner speaker, the voice of the American League Playoffs on the network, a family man and a good husband to LuLu, a guest on ESPN with Roy Firestone, a supportive friend to a broadcast partner who wife was dying, a modest, humble, "egoless" historian of the game, the "Move Over Babe" lyricist for Bill Slayback. That's Ernie.

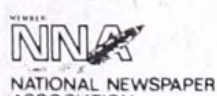

Ernie is a tongue-tied kid from Georgia who grew up to be an announcer loved by all, who thanked his family and praised the Lord on the steps of Cooperstown. Ernie is the Detroit Tigers. Ernie is baseball. Thank you Ernie.

Thanks for the support

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the positive article that appeared in your "Opinion" section on Nov. 25, 1990.

Hickory Hollow Management has been diligently working to develop a good working relationship with the Wayne Police Department and greatly appreciates the importance of the work that they do. I firmly believe that if we work together on educating our members in the importance of crime prevention and establishing a neighborhood watch program, and management continues to keep open the lines of communication with the police department, that we will be able to cut down a lot of the problems we are having in our community. Hickory Hollow is a wonderful community, with a lot of concerned members, and we would all like to keep it a safe, drug-free development.

Once again, thank you for a positive article on our cooperative and have a happy holiday season.

PUBLIC NOTICE
INTENT TO ISSUE A STATE OPERATING LICENSE AND FEDERAL PERMIT TO ENVIRONMENTAL WASTE CONTROL, INC.
INKSTER, MICHIGAN
February 7, 1991 Public Hearing

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR), and the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) Region V, hereby give notice of their intent to issue a joint Michigan Public Act 64 operating license and federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) permit to Environmental Waste Control, Inc. (EWC). The operating license and RCRA permit would allow EWC to continue to operate a commercial hazardous waste storage and treatment facility at 27140 Princeton Avenue in Inkster, Michigan. EWC currently operates its hazardous waste storage tanks and wastewater treatment tanks and filtration equipment under a State hazardous waste facility operating license issued July 7, 1982, and a Consent Judgment issued by the Wayne County Circuit Court April 18, 1988, as amended on December 3, 1990. This draft license authorizes the upgrading of the facility, including the installation of above-ground waste storage tanks to replace two surface impoundments that have been closed, the construction of a hazardous waste container storage building, and improvements to containment structures at the facility. This notice is given in accordance with Section 24 of Act 64, R 299.9511 of the Act 64 Administrative Rules, Section 7004 of RCRA and Title 40, Section 124.10 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The MDNR and U.S. EPA invite public comment on the application, the draft operating license, and the draft RCRA permit. A public hearing will be held on Thursday, February 7, 1991, at the Cherry Hill Adult Center Auditorium located at 28500 Avondale Road in Inkster, Michigan. The parking lot is located in back of the building off Harrison Street. The hearing will begin at 7:00 p.m. and will continue until all persons have had the opportunity to present their comments for the record. Speakers should register by 7:30 p.m., limit their oral presentations to five minutes, and if possible, submit two copies of their presentations to the MDNR and U.S. EPA in written form at the hearing. The public comment period for the operating license application, the draft operating license, and the draft RCRA permit begins on January 3, 1991, and ends on February 19, 1991. The EWC operating license application, the draft Act 64 operating license, the draft RCRA permit, the facility fact sheet, and information regarding the MDNR/U.S. EPA assessment of prior releases of hazardous waste are available for inspection at the MDNR Southeast Michigan District Office, located at 38980 Seven Mile Road in Livonia, Michigan (contact Mr. Donald Mbamah at 313-953-0241), at the Inkster Office of the City Clerk, located at 2121 Inkster Road in Inkster, Michigan (contact Ms. Delphine Oden at 313-563-9772), and at the Inkster Public Library, located at 2005 Inkster Road in Inkster, Michigan (contact Ms. Mickey Murata at 313-563-2822). These materials and other supporting documents, including all information submitted by the applicant, are also available at the MDNR Waste Management Division Office located on the first floor of the South Ottawa Building in Lansing, Michigan (contact Ms. Cheryl Howe at 517-373-9881); and at the U.S. EPA Region V Office, RCRA Permitting Branch, located at 230 South Dearborn Street in Chicago, Illinois (contact Ms. Lorna Jereza at 312-353-5110). Copies of the documents may be obtained by sending your request and mailing address to Ms. Jan Adams at the MDNR Lansing address given below. If the requested documents contain more than 50 pages, the copying costs will be assessed. After the close of the public comment period and before issuing a final permit decision, the MDNR and U.S. EPA will evaluate all comments received. The final permit decisions by the MDNR and the U.S. EPA will be communicated to the applicant, all persons who submit written comments, all persons who make statements at the public hearing, and all persons on the facility mailing list. Under R 299.9511 of the Act 64 Administrative Rules and Title 40 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Section 124.17, the MDNR and U.S. EPA will also respond to all significant comments on the operating license and permit, specify which provisions of the draft operating license and permit were changed, if any, and indicate whether additional documents have been included in the administrative record. The U.S. EPA and the MDNR also give notice that further evaluation is necessary to determine whether or not releases of hazardous waste or hazardous constituents to the environment have occurred or are occurring from any solid waste management unit (SWMU) at the EWC facility. The determination is one of the steps U.S. EPA is undertaking to fulfill its obligations under the RCRA Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984 (HSWA). Section 3004(u) of RCRA requires that all hazardous waste management permits issued after November 8, 1984 require corrective action for all releases of hazardous waste or hazardous constituents to the environment from any SWMU at a facility that will be issued a permit. Furthermore, permits may contain a schedule of compliance for such corrective action when such corrective action cannot be completed prior to issuance of the permit, and must contain assurances of financial responsibility for completing corrective action, waste minimization, and minimum technology requirements. Written comments on the application, the draft operating license, and draft RCRA permit will be accepted during the public comment period. All comments submitted for consideration by the MDNR and U.S. EPA must be postmarked by February 19, 1991. Comments regarding the Act 64 operating license should be addressed to: Ms. Cheryl Howe
Waste Management Division
Department of Natural Resources
Box 30241

'Great powder' within driving distance of metropolitan Detroit

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

Jeff Burnside of Dearborn loves to ski up north all winter. Except, of course, on the occasions when money runs dry.

When that happens, Burnside turns to the local slopes, namely Alpine Valley.

"The local slopes aren't as difficult or as vertical as the ones up north, but they are much, much cheaper," he said. "You can drive there and return home in the same night."

For Karen Nichols of Dearborn, skiing is great no matter where you go, although she says she prefers the challenge of northern Michigan slopes.

"It's self-expression and a thrill," she said. "It's fun to be outside running around in the snow instead of doing nothing around the house."

While local slopes tend to be smaller in size, most provide easy access, good skiing for the buck and an enjoyable evening or day alternative to indoor winter sports such as bowling.

Here is a list of local ski facilities:

Alpine Valley, Milford, 313-887-4183.

A few miles away, Alpine offers a snack lounge, conference room, nine double chair lifts and 25 slopes and trails. The longest run is 2,000 feet with a vertical drop of 300 feet.

Mt. Brighton, Mt. Brighton 313-229-9851.

Don't plan on staying overnight, because Mt. Brighton doesn't offer lodging facilities. But what it does offer is 27 runs, seven chairs and 10 tow ropes.

The Challenge, a 250-degree downhill nightmare, challenges the most daring skiers.

Mt. Holly, Holly, 800-582-7256

With names like White Lightning and Thunderbolt, you know the runs must be challenging.

Of the 16 runs, seven chairs and four tow ropes, it's apparent Riverview is more suited for the beginner and intermediate rather than advanced.

And for those who want to pack their bags along with their ski equipment, here are some of the best ski slopes in Michigan:

Pine Knob, Clarkston, 313-625-0800.

If you like to surf, you will love Pine Knob.

The ski facility allows snow boarding, which is a skate board without the wheels, on all 13 of its runs.

Pine Knob also makes available: five lifts, four tow ropes, video games, ski shop and snack bar.

The big runs are The Wall, Phase One and the Crises.

Riverview Highlands, Riverview, 313-479-2080.

Another ski facility more suited to beginners and intermediates, Riverview offers 10 runs, two chair lifts and two tow ropes.

Boyne Mountain, Cherry Hill Road, Boyne Falls, 616-549-2441.

A revised and expanded cross-country trail system is well-suited for the beginner, advanced and expert.

Boyne has 17 runs and 250 acres of skiable land. In addition, there are more than 100 hotel rooms and hundreds of condos and lodges to accommodate up to 500 skiers.

Big Powderhorn Mountain, Powderhorn Road, Bessemer, 906-932-4838.

Check this out: 300 Alpine style chalets to accommodate hundreds of skiers and 23 trails of up to a mile in length on 175 acres of terrain.

Perhaps one of the most picturesque ski resorts in the Upper Peninsula.

Blackjack Ski Resort, Black-jack Road, Bessemer, 906-229-5115.

Not as big as other ski resorts, Blackjack makes up for size with 16 runs, four double chairs and two beginners' tow ropes.

Indianhead Mountain, Wakefield, 906-229-5181.

Located in the Upper Peninsula, this year-round resort features such tough runs as the Grizzly, Tomahawk and Winnebago.

Indianhead also sports health and racquet club, pool, whirlpool/sauna, game room and exercise facility, restaurants and lounges.

Marquette Mountain, Marquette, 906-225-1155.

Ski experts beware. The Rocket, Ridge and Weasel Gulch, three of the longest runs around at 1 1/4 miles, challenge your skills. Two double chairs and a rope tow serve 18 runs, some for beginners and intermediates.

Nub's Nob, Nub's Nob Road, Harbor Springs, 616-526-2131.

If you like to ski by day and night, this is the place for you.

Nub's boast nine new snow guns and is routinely rated in the top five in the Midwest by Snow Magazine.

Sugar Loaf, Route 1, Cedar, 616-228-5461.

Twenty runs - eight novice, six intermediate, six advanced - are accessed by six chairs. The killer run is the notorious Awful-Awful, named for what happens to skiers who attempt it with more courage than brains.

Sugar Loaf also has recently renovated 100 of its 150 lodge rooms.

Indianhead Mountain, Glen Arbor, 906-229-5181.

Two triples and one double chair have access to 14 runs on gentle slopes.

Beginning December 9, you must dial "1-313" or your long distance call will not go through.

As of December 9, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed below, you must dial "1-313" when dialing long distance within the 313 area. Otherwise, your call won't be connected. Because that's when final conversion of your neighborhood to "1-313" long distance dialing will be complete. So if you haven't already reprogrammed your speed calling, call forwarding, modem communications software and automatic dialers, you should do so immediately.

And remember, local and zone calls are still seven digits. Not sure what's long distance and what's not? Just check the front of your Ameritech PagesPlus® White Pages directory.

Thanks for dialing "1-313." Because by doing it you're helping to create 1.5 million new phone numbers for our area. And a completed call for yourself.

Beginning December 9, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed here, you must dial "1-313" for long distance calls in the 313 area.
